SUSTAIN FRAUD CHARGE IN ELKS HILL CASE

SUPREME COURT CANCELS LEASES

OF E. L. DOHENY

THESE OIL RIGHTS ARE CONSIDERED WORTH UNTOLD MILLIONS

HAD BEEN GRANTED TWO DOHENY COMPANIES BY SECRETARY FALL

By HERBERT LITTLE

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, Feb. 28.—The United States supreme court today cancelled E. L. Doheny's leases on the famous Elk Hills naval oil reserve in California.

These oil rights, worth untold millions, were granted to two Doheny companies by Secretary of the Interior A. B. Fall and Secretary of the Navy Denby in return for promises to construct and fill a naval oil depot at Pearl Harbor, Hawaiian Island naval base.

Decision of the San Francisco circuit court of appeals, invalidating the leases and contracts to build, on grounds of fraud and lack of authority, and ordering the companies to pay the government approximately $10,000,000 for oil taken from Elk Hills, was affirmed.

This civil case was brought by the government as a result of the senatorial oil investigation of 1923-24, along with a similar annulment suit against the lease obtained by Harry F. Sinclair on Teapot Dome naval reserve and a criminal suit against Fall, Doheny and Sinclair for alleged conspiracy to defraud the government. This case was regarded as most important because it first reached the supreme court for a final decision.

Today's decision was final. There is no appeal except for a rehearing by the supreme court.

Washington, Feb. 28.—The United States supreme court today handed down its decision in the Elk Hills oil lease case growing out of the senate oil investigation. Justice Pierce Butler read the opinion starting at 12 noon. The opening did not indicate what the decision would be.

The opinion said that the finding of fraud in the case is sustained, but the final decision had not been finished at that time.

Butler said the findings of the facts in the case "clearly showed there was fraud in the inception of the contract." A moment later, he took up other aspects, leading to a belief that the lower court complete government victory might be affirmed in part and reversed in part.

NEGRO HANGED FOR ATTACKING WHITE WOMAN

ROBERT JOHNSON, 28, MEETS HIS DEATH ON THE SCAFFOLD

WAS ONCE PRIVATE ORDERLY TO GENERAL JOHN J.
PERSHING

Clayton, Mo., Feb. 28.—(UP)—Robert Johnson, 28, negro, once private orderly to General John J. Pershing in France, was hanged here shortly after sunrise today for attacking a white woman. The trap was sprung at 6:20 A. M. and physicians announced the negro dead a few minutes later.

The former soldier went to death bravely, attended by a Catholic priest and county officials. Shortly before mounting to the gallows he denied fear of death but said he was sorry for the deed that required the forfeit of life.

Johnson's last hours on earth were spent in the care-free spirit characteristic of his race. He played cards with members of the death watch and ate heartily of the food he was allowed to choose.

His worldly affairs were put in order by a will leaving his war insurance of $1,400 to Bertha Tracy, a negro woman, and Johnson's two attorneys. Last religious consolation was administered in the presence of friends.

Johnson would have been hanged a month sooner but for a letter from General Pershing to Governor Sam Baker requesting a thorough investigation of the case. The reprieve granted by the governor in response to that letter was not renewed after the investigation.

Johnson was convicted of attacking Mrs. Frank Faenger, a South Afton farm woman, after she had given him food when he stopped at her home in search of work on March 9. She asked to witness the hanging but was denied the privilege. Her husband was among the witnesses at the execution.

RADIO LISTENERS' MILLENNIUM IS FAST APPROACHING

THANKS TO PASSAGE OF RADIO
LEGISLATION CON-
TEMPLATED

REGULATION OF THE AIR SOON TO BE AN ASSURED
FACT

By RANSLOE BOONE

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, Feb. 28.—The radio listeners' millennium is fast approaching, thanks to passage of radio legislation for regulation of the air.

He will be able to tune in on a station to enjoy a lecture, symphony concert or jazz band without being bombarded with howls, shrieks and other jumbled noises. Clear reception is promised by Herbert Hoover, secretary of commerce, under whose supervision an authorized radio commission will operate.

This ideal condition will not appear immediately, however, according to the secretary who says, "The new commission which is to determine who shall have licenses to broadcast, at what times and with what power, will no doubt require some months to make arrangements of broadcasting stations. It will require some patience on the part of listeners while the commission works out the problem."

He added, however, that the completion of the legislation makes it possible eventually to clear up the "chaos of interference and howls in radio reception."

The work of the commission will be complicated for there are today 18,119 radio sending stations including 733 for public entertainment and information.

Passage of the radio act automatically terminates all existing licenses for radio transmission and no new licenses can be issued and no action can be taken on applications now pending until formation of the commission. President Coolidge's nominations for the body are expected in a few days.

Licensed stations may continue operation for sixty days but every station owner desiring to operate after that time must apply to the commission for a new license within that time.

Several applications have been received since the new law became effective but these have been returned until the commission prescribes proper forms.

The commerce department, according to Secretary Hoover, will retain control of operators' licenses but these are terminated by the new law. The department, however, will issue new licenses to cover the unexpired period of those now outstanding.

Radio listeners will not be required to learn new call letters at present, Hoover said. Call letters heretofore assigned by the department will be continued until the commission finds alteration necessary or advisable.

PASSAGE OVER VETO CONSIDERED HOPELESS, HOWEVER

LEGISLATIVE SITUATION SUCH
THAT A VOTE COULD BE AVOIDED

CONGRESS GOES BACK
HOME

By THOMAS L. STOKES

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, Feb. 28.—Senate farm bloc leaders intend to bring before the senate today the McNary-Haugen farm relief bill for a show-down on President Coolidge's veto.

Senator McNary, republican, Oregon, who admitted passage over the veto is impossible, announced he would seek to get the measure up today.

The vigor with which McNary and other farm bloc leaders press for a vote will determine whether a vote on the veto is taken. The legislative situation is such that a vote could be avoided as only four and one-half days are left before congress goes back home.

It is not at all unlikely that a vote may be sidetracked. Democrats, however, do not intend to stand by and let this happen without at least reminding republicans of the rift in the majority party ranks over farm relief. There is a rift, likewise, in democratic ranks, but it is not so bound up with presidential politics.

There is no democratic candidate who has taken so definite a stand on farm relief as have former Governor Lowden of Illinois and some other potential republican challengers of President Coolidge's re-nomination.

Meanwhile, a meeting of the house agricultural committee has been called for today, shrouded in some secrecy, out of which has come the report that administration leaders may attempt to force action on the Curtis-Crisp farm relief bill, rejected decisively in both house and senate.

MASKED DELEGATION VISITED MAYOR

Mobile, Ala., Feb. 28.—(UP)—Members of a masked delegation who called on Mayor Hartwell last night and threatened him, were being sought today.

The masked group, wearing regalia greatly similar to the Ku Klux Klan, surrounded Hartwell's home and issued the threats he reported to police.

Hartwell believes the reason for the threats is that he refused to permit the Ku Klux Klan to participate in the Mardi Gras Tuesday as there is an ordinance forbidding masking without permission. The mayor claims the masked group promised to "get me" because he had discriminated against their organization.

'BIG NEEDLES AND PINS MEN' VOICE COMPLAINT

Washington, Feb. 28.—(UP)—Protest by husbands and fathers against the Yankee maid's devotion to short tresses and scanty garb are being echoed by the "big needles and pins men," a commerce department biennial report indicated today.

Hairpins, safety pins, snap fasteners and clasps, once a necessary part of feminine equipment, are not reaping the rewards they did in 1923, the report shows.

Taking all the above articles into consideration the 1925 figures show a drop of 17.9 per cent from the 1923 total. The figure was 18,173,574.

SOVIET RUSSIA HOLDS BRITAIN AS BLAMEWORTHY

CLAIMS LATTER IS TO BLAME
FOR "ABNORMAL RELATIONS"

SAYS "ENGLAND DECLINES TO USE DIPLOMATIC
STANDARDS"

Moscow, Feb. 28.—(UP)—Soviet Russia was on record today as holding Great Britain to blame for "abnormal relations" between the two nations.

England "declines to use usual diplomatic standards or even elementary courtesy towards the Soviet," said a note from the Moscow government, replying to the recent British note warning Russia against spreading propaganda against Britain in China and elsewhere.

Russia declared, however, that she would henceforth follow a peaceful policy of non-aggression, and expressed the hope that Britain would reciprocate.

The Russian-British trade agreement permits both British and Russian citizens to make mutually critical speeches, the Soviet said. It protested Britain's continued linking of the communist party with the Soviet government.

In reply to the British note's quotations from speeches and articles of Soviet officials attacking Britain, the note quoted a speech by Lord Birkhead terming Soviet citizens "a band of murderers and bandits." It also referred to speeches of Winston Churchill and other officials, and added the Soviet would consider it improper "to seek an explanation in psychological idiosyncrasies of any Great Britain statesman."

The official newspaper "Izvestia," commenting on the note said, "We will not be responsible for any breach of relations which is unprovoked by us and which we consider undesirable."

It charged the British note to Russia was intended to cause a rupture.

SYMPATHIZE WITH CHINA OF THE NORTH

BEGIN CAMPAIGN OF SPEECHES
AND LEAFLETS AGAINST CAN-
TONESE NATIONALISTS

THE FIRST PROPAGANDA UNIT
REACHES SOO CHOW, 50 MILES
WEST OF SHANGHAI

By H. FRANCIS MISSELWITZ

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Shanghai, Feb. 28.—(UP)—Flapper propagandists spread fan-wise from Shanghai today as pretty Chinese maidens sympathetic with the cause of northern China began a campaign of speeches and leaflets against the Cantonese nationalists from the south.

The first flapper propaganda unit has reached Soo Chow, about 50 miles west of Shanghai. Their efforts will be principally directed toward influencing the civilian populations against the doctrines of the south. In seeking to capitalize the universal appeal of pretty faces, the north China leaders merely followed the lead of the southerners, who some time ago used girls for the distribution of propaganda.

While north China leaders consolidated their defenses of Shanghai in the neighborhood of Sung Kiang, 30 miles to the south, British troops stood watch on the outskirts of the city and within this first foreign line of defense there were second and third lines for emergency use.

Shanghai's foreign settlements are hatchet-shaped. The handle and the knob of the hatchet comprise the international settlement and the French concession therefore occupies the relative position of the blade of the hatchet from edge to the middle of the steel, where the handle would fit. The hatchet lies just a bit off line from east and west, the end of the handle being the eastern extremity. The blade edge faces south toward Sung Kiang.

The French concession is bounded on the east, south and west by Chinese territory and on the north by the international settlement. Railway lines encircle the blade and knob of the hatchet. British troops have been stationed along the railway embankments, a Gloucester battalion on the western front, and two Punjab (Indian) battalions on the north. Extending eastward from the Punjab flank were battalions of the Durham and Suffolk regiments. These railway lines are several miles from the borders of the foreign communities at most places.

Lying between the western front and the border of the French concession is the American Columbia Country club. It was occupied by British troops.

The second line of defense, prepared by the volunteer corps (foreign) before the arrival of the regular troops, follows the western boundary of the French concession and turns eastward without including the hatchet knob, thereby protecting most of the foreign area on the west and north. On this line, a third surrounds the heart of the international settlement, comprising perhaps one-fifth of the combined areas of the French and international areas.

Where the French concession borders on Chinese territory to the south, bridges across the canal have been stripped of planks and barbed wire barricades and sandbag machine gun placements have been erected. On the east, where there is no canal between the French and Chinese areas, eight-foot picket fences with iron gates in concrete frames have been erected.

For a short distance where only a neck of French land separates the Chinese city from the international settlement, all crossroads into the international settlement have been barricaded with barbed wire.

It was believed that the foreign warships, sailors, soldiers and marines here or en route, would suffice to guarantee the safety of the foreign areas.

He added, however, that the completion of the legislation makes it possible eventually to clear up the "chaos of interference and howls in radio reception."

The work of the commission will be complicated for there are today 18,119 radio sending stations including 733 for public entertainment and information.

Passage of the radio act automatically terminates all existing licenses for radio transmission and no new licenses can be issued and no action can be taken on applications now pending until formation of the commission. President Coolidge's nominations for the body are expected in a few days.

Licensed stations may continue operation for sixty days but every station owner desiring to operate after that time must apply to the commission for a new license within that time.

Several applications have been received since the new law became effective but these have been returned until the commission prescribes proper forms.

The commerce department, according to Secretary Hoover, will retain control of operators' licenses but these are terminated by the new law. The department, however, will issue new licenses to cover the unexpired period of those now outstanding.

Radio listeners will not be required to learn new call letters at present, Hoover said. Call letters heretofore assigned by the department will be continued until the commission finds alteration necessary or advisable.

PASSAGE OVER VETO CONSIDERED HOPELESS, HOWEVER

LEGISLATIVE SITUATION SUCH
THAT A VOTE COULD BE

CONGRESS GOES BACK
HOME

By THOMAS L. STOKES
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, Feb. 28.—Senate farm bloc leaders intend to bring before the senate today the McNary-Haugen farm relief bill for a show-down on President Coolidge's veto.

Senator McNary, republican, Oregon, who admitted passage over the veto is impossible, announced he would seek to get the measure up today.

The vigor with which McNary and other farm bloc leaders press for a vote will determine whether a vote on the veto is taken. The legislative situation is such that a vote could be avoided as only four and one-half days are left before congress goes back home.

It is not at all unlikely that a vote may be sidetracked. Democrats, however, do not intend to stand by and let this happen without at least reminding republicans of the rift in the majority party ranks over farm relief. There is a rift, likewise, in democratic ranks, but it is not so bound up with presidential politics. There is no democratic candidate who has taken so definite a stand on farm relief as have former Governor Lowden of Illinois and some other potential republican challengers of President Coolidge's re-nomination.

Meanwhile, a meeting of the house agricultural committee has been called for today, shrouded in some secrecy, out of which has come the report that administration leaders may attempt to force action on the Curtis-Crisp farm relief bill, rejected decisively in both house and senate.

MASKED DELEGATION VISITED MAYOR

Mobile, Ala., Feb. 28.—(UP)—Members of a masked delegation who called on Mayor Hartwell last night and threatened him, were being sought today.

The masked group, wearing regalia greatly similar to the Ku Klux Klan, surrounded Hartwell's home and issued the threats he reported to police.

Hartwell believes the reason for the threats is that he refused to permit the Ku Klux Klan to participate in the Mardi Gras Tuesday as there is an ordinance forbidding masking without permission. The mayor claims the masked group promised to "get me" because he had discriminated against their organization.

$150,000 FIRE AT FORTH WORTH, TEX.

BLACKSMITH IN EATING ROLE, 50 BOILED EGGS, SNUFF

Wilmar, Minn., Feb. 28.—(UP)—Charles Davidson, Wilmar blacksmith, put a dozen competitors to rout in an eating contest here when he topped off fifty boiled eggs with a box of snuff.

Eight cups of coffee, ten potatoes and half a loaf of bread completed Davidson's meal all of which was downed in an hour and a quarter. The prize was a box of apples.

'BIG NEEDLES AND PINS MEN' VOICE COMPLAINT

Washington, Feb. 28.—(UP)—Protest by husbands and fathers against the Yankee maid's devotion to shorn tresses and scanty garb are being echoed by the "big needles and pins men," a commerce department biennial report indicated today.

Hairpins, safety pins, snap fasteners and clasps, once a necessary part of feminine equipment, are not reaping the rewards they did in 1923, the report shows.

Taking all the above articles into consideration the 1925 figures show a drop of 17.9 per cent from the 1923 total. The figure was 18,173,574.

SOVIET RUSSIA HOLDS BRITAIN AS BLAMEWORTHY

CLAIMS LATTER IS TO BLAME
FOR "ABNORMAL RELATIONS"

SAYS "ENGLAND DECLINES TO
USE DIPLOMATIC
STANDARDS"

Moscow, Feb. 28.—(UP)—Soviet Russia was on record today as holding Great Britain to blame for "abnormal relations" between the two nations.

England "declines to use usual diplomatic standards or even elementary courtesy towards the Soviet," said a note from the Moscow government, replying to the recent British note warning Russia against spreading propaganda against Britain in China and elsewhere.

Russia declared, however, that she would henceforth follow a peaceful policy of non-aggression, and expressed the hope that Britain would reciprocate.

The Russian-British trade agreement permits both British and Russian citizens to make mutually critical speeches, the Soviet said. It protested Britain's continued linking of the communist party with the Soviet government.

In reply to the British note's quotations from speeches and articles of Soviet officials attacking Britain, the note quoted a speech by Lord Birkhead, British ambassador in Moscow, in which he said that the Soviet government was "a band of murderers and bandits." It also referred to speeches of Winston Churchill and other officials, and added the Soviet would consider it improper "to seek an explanation in psychological idiosyncrasies of any Great Britain statesman."

The official newspaper "Izvestia," commenting on the note said, "We will not be responsible for any breach of relations which is provoked by us and which we consider undesirable."

It charged the British note to Russia was intended to cause a rupture.

SYMPATHIZE WITH CHINA OF THE NORTH

BEGIN CAMPAIGN OF SPEECHES
AND LEAFLETS AGAINST CAN-
TONESE NATIONALISTS

THE FIRST PROPAGANDA UNIT
REACHES SOO CHOW, 50 MILES
WEST OF SHANGHAI

By H. FRANCIS MISSELWITZ
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Shanghai, Feb. 28.—(UP)—Flapper propagandists spread fan-wise from Shanghai today as pretty Chinese maidens sympathetic with the cause of northern China began a campaign of speeches and leaflets against the Cantonese nationalists from the south.

The first flapper propaganda unit has reached Soo Chow, about 50 miles west of Shanghai. Their efforts will be principally directed toward influencing the civilian populations against the doctrines of the south. In seeking to capitalize the universal appeal of pretty faces, the north China leaders merely followed the lead of the southerners, who some time ago used girls for the distribution of propaganda.

While north China leaders consolidated their defenses of Shanghai in the neighborhood of Sung Kiang, 30 miles to the south, British troops stood watch on the outskirts of the city and within this first foreign line of defense there were second and third lines for emergency use.

Shanghai's foreign settlements are hatchet-shaped. The handle and the knob of the hatchet comprise the international settlement and the French concession therefore occupies the relative position of the blade of the hatchet from edge to the middle of the steel, where the handle would fit. The hatchet lies just a bit off line from east and west, the end of the handle being the eastern extremity. The blade edge faces south toward Sung Kiang.

The French concession is bounded on the east, south and west by Chinese territory and on the north by the international settlement. Railway lines encircle the blade and knob of the hatchet. British troops have been stationed along the railway embankments, a Gloucester battalion on the western front, and two Punjab (Indian) battalions on the north. Extending eastward from the Punjab flank were battalions of the Durham and Suffolk regiments. These railway lines are several miles from the borders of the foreign communities at most places.

Lying between the western front and the border of the French concession is the American Columbia Country club. It was occupied by British troops.

The second line of defense, prepared by the volunteer corps (foreign) before the arrival of the regular troops, follows the western boundary of the French concession and turns eastward without including the hatchet knob, thereby protecting most of the foreign area on the west and north. On this line, a third surrounds the heart of the international settlement, comprising perhaps one-fifth of the combined areas of the French and international areas.

Where the French concession borders on Chinese territory to the south, bridges across the canal have been stripped of planks and barbed wire barricades and sandbag machine gun placements have been erected. On the east, where there is no canal between the French and Chinese areas, eight-foot picket fences with iron gates in concrete frames have been erected.

For a short distance where only a neck of French land separates the Chinese city from the international settlement, all crossroads into the international settlement have been barricaded with barbed wire.

It was believed that the foreign warships, sailors, soldiers and marines here or en route, would suffice to guarantee the safety of the foreign areas.

TWO MIGHTY OPPOSING ARMIES CONVERGING

Shanghai, Feb. 28.—Two mighty, opposing armies were converging on Sung Kiang, 30 miles from Shanghai, today as both northern and southern forces moved toward the city.

Medal for Inventor

The John Fritz gold medal was conferred on Elmer Sperry for the invention of an aerial torpedo designed to hit targets at a distance of 100 miles. According to William Saunders, chairman of the naval consulting board of the United States, who spoke at the presentation exercises in New York, our government was prevented from using the torpedo during the World war only by the signing of the armistice. "This perfectly fine experiment," declared Saunders in his remarks, "was stopped by the armistice. If that had not come we would have had 10,000 flying guns which could have been sent into enemy forces in no time."—Pathfinder Magazine.

FIERCE STORMS ON NORTH PACIFIC MODERATING TODAY

GREATER PART OF 270 SMALL
BOATS OF HALIBUT FLEET
STILL OUT

SEVERAL STRUGGLE TO PORT
WITH HARROWING ACCOUNTS
OF STORM

Seward, Alaska, Feb. 28.—(UP)—Pierce storms which are believed to have wreaked havoc in the north Pacific during the past week, were moderating today.

Greater part of the 270 small boats comprising the Alaskan halibut fleet are still unaccounted for. No disasters, however, have been reported.

Several of the vessels have struggled into various Alaskan harbors with harrowing accounts of prolonged battle with towering breakers on the fishing banks.

The fleet has been scattered widely, it was believed, even if none of the ships have been lost. Veteran sailors at Seward said. It will be some time before the halibut unit is gathered together again for concerted fishing.

southern forces avoided battle to await arrival of reinforcements.

In the 48 hours since the vanguard of the Cantonese reached the outskirts of Sung Kiang and then withdrew to a position a few miles from the city, troops from the south have been advancing by forced marches to support their speedier comrades.

At the same time, the army of Chang Chung-Chang was replacing the troops of Sun Chuan-Fang, tired from their retreat from Hangchow. Chang's northern warriors continued to swarm through Shanghai on their way to the front, and the marshal said he had a quarter of a million men ready for immediate action.

While both sides prepared for the battle which may decide the fate of Shanghai, British and other Occidental troops continued to protect the foreign settlement from looting and rioting.

Friction arose between the foreign troops in the settlement and native leaders over an order of Shanghai Defense Commissioner Li Paohang, closing the Woosung entrance to the Whangpoo river from 6 P. M. to 6 A. M., and over arrest of alleged Cantonese agents in the settlement by Li's agents.

Closing the river seriously interfered with foreign shipping.

French police were ordered to take the strongest measures to prevent activity of Li's men in the French concession after it was charged Cantonese agents had been kidnapped. That, the French said, violated neutrality agreements.

Shanghai University, notorious as a communist center, was closed by native police.

More British troops landed from the steamer Magnatic, which was used as an American transport during the world war. With their arrival, General Duncan took over control of all the British forces in Shanghai. After an inspection of the defense lines, however, he was forced to take to his bed with a slight fever.

Eight more British transports are understood to be coming to Shanghai.

"I can raise a million men to drive the Cantonese into the sea," Chang Chung-Chang said today, after returning from Sung Kiang, where he had inspected his defenses. "I am here, and Shanghai is safe."

He took up temporary residence in the foreign settlement.

Sun Chuan-Fang, whom he relieved as defender of Shanghai, is tired, Chang said, but added, "with Chang Tso-Lin, Sun and I are masters in China now."

Reports that Sun would relinquish all command over his army and flee to Japan still circulated, however.

Order Was Placed

The teacher of the kindergarten Sunday school class was asking each member if there was a little brother or sister at home who might soon be eligible for admission to the class. One little boy, as he heard the proud responses of the children in front of him, felt that he was rapidly losing caste.

"No, ma'am," he admitted reluctantly, then added in sudden desperation, "But we're going to get one!"

The Only Girl

Jack had just asked Jill to marry him, and she had murmured, "Yes." "Jack, dear," asked Jill, after a long silence, "am I the only girl?" "Jill, darling," he interrupted, "don't ask me if you are the only girl I have ever loved. You know it as well as I do."

"That wasn't the question at all, Jack," she answered. "I was just going to ask you if I was the only girl who would have you."

Jumper Outfit in Favor at Resorts

Materials Include Ensemble
Effects in Gay Checks
and in Dots.

From this time until spring is well on the way the scene of activities in the world of fashion will be largely south of the Mason and Dixon line. The winter vacation becomes each year more general and is now a thing for which extensive preparations are made. Paris couturiers and American dressmakers, observes a fashion writer in the New York Times, are keenly aware of the importance of the southern resort season, with its rivalries, and create for it their artistic best in styles. Palm Beach has become a label for dress of the type required for the southern winter season, but the playgrounds are many and the horizon of sunny lands is wide. There are all the resorts and clubs at all the semitropical inland places and waters, the mountains, springs, beaches and pine woods, to which the world of fashion travels, with proper equipment, which means a harvest time for designers and merchants.

Each of the fashionable winter resorts is a style center for which a definite type of dress is required. The most varied and elaborate wardrobe is, of course, for the seashore places. For these, one whose social activities are general selects costumes for many occasions—for morning, noon and night. There must be up-to-date clothes for the beach and the ballroom, for the tennis court and golf grounds and for the tea garden.

An entirely different outfit is needed for the country clubs at the springs and in the mountains. There are more sports clothes, for riding, hiking, golfing and for general wear, where the changes are less arduous. In the smartest communities evening dress is distinctly important and the latest things in gowns, wraps and accessories are worn for the dinners and dances.

Because of the prominence given to outdoor affairs, sports dress is particularly attractive, and the most swaggy sports clothes seen in years have been designed for this season. New fabrics, new colors and original combinations are the features most conspicuous, with a tendency to more femininity in style. This applies to all of the season's fashions and particularly to southern resort togs, which also forecast to some extent the styles for early spring.

The Traveling Costume.

Whatever the destination, the first requirement of a journey southward is a traveling outfit. This year a definite type is evident in the traveling costume which will serve for many knockabout occasions as the season goes on. The jumper two-piece—the suit which is in effect a two-piece, but in reality all one garment—and the one-piece part of an ensemble, the sort of frock that was introduced as the coat dress a few years ago, are all being worn. Ensemble is the term which describes the most fashionable and practical style in dress, and material is largely an individual matter. Crepe and silk are the preference for some who wear a heavier sort of outer wrap, but the lightweight woolsens are having a tremendous vogue because of the particularly fine fitness of the new weaves.

Among the many fabrics shown in the latest costumes designed for travel and general wear are small birdseye checks and fine tweeds, reps, cashmeres and wool crepes. These are used for ensembles, for suits and for one-piece dresses in several arrangements and combinations of materials. Some conventional checks and dots in prints of two or three tones are introduced in the dress and for the lining of the coat. It is usual to carry the fabric of the dress over as a lining for the topcoat, a manner of handling that is both smart and serviceable.

Some of the newest materials, wool or wool and silk interwoven, are as light as pure silk or crepe, charming and grateful in ensembles and of infinite service for southern wear. There are, for example, the fine reps almost as thin and as closely woven as veiling, suitable for ensembles that will be worn going South and for early spring in the North. These are shown in plain colors—browns, blues, beiges and greens—which in the making are trimmed with brilliant dashes of color. Then there are the reversible checks, stripes, arrowheads, overpatterned, some of them showing the design in infinitesimal checks, refined, dainty and having an unmistakable quality of elegance. Some of the most attractive of these materials have a foundation of wool exceedingly fine, with the pattern traced in silk.

Two-Tone Silk Dress for Morning or Afternoon Wear.

Taffeta de Laine. Among the finer fabrics of this type is a taffeta de laine, light and delicate as thistledown, closely woven, with a small black pattern outlined in silk. This material has something of the character of mohair and of slightly more weight than silk, but an especially happy choice for a climate of warm days and cool evenings in the open. It is slightly more elaborate than the heavier woolsens and makes charming frocks and ensembles for the younger women. These featherweight woolsens and others with one thread of silk are designed for the more feminine sports dress, such as a woman will wear for lunch or tea at a mountain or seaside and are particularly fetching in light and bright colors with white. With these jumper suits and with the smartly tailored and plaited skirts are worn blouses of new and quite lovely design. These are, of course, of silk or crepe in plain colors, worked up with minute pin tucks, and much fagoting and drawn work is being used. The best of these are done altogether by hand, although there are to be had many attractive blouses in which the exquisite styles are reproduced by machine.

In some original models received from Jenny and Jane Regny, a one-piece frock is really all in one, the bodice being joined to the skirt at a low waistline which is really about the hips. In each of these the bodice of white wool is trimmed in geometric pattern, done with the material of the skirt, which is black or colored satin crepe. In one from Jenny the skirt is of black satin plaited and the sleeves are made of this, with bands applied at wide spaced intervals around the bodice. In another from the same house pale green crepe is trimmed with bands of dark green cloth, which is plaited in with the material of the skirt and applied in curving bands at the neck, down one side of the blouse and as a fancy belt.

Combination of Fabrics.

Treatment by Jane Regny of two fabrics in combination is rather different and more striking; she uses very wide bands of contrasting colors and bold patterns. The colors of these frocks of Parisian authorship are of several styles. On one model the neck is cut round, with the usual encircling choker of bands. Another is slashed in a shallow V, as the edges are turned back to form coat-like revers. In another model the blouse is cut high and buttoned at one side, following the line with which the frock itself is finished. The high-cut neck, with a cravat tied at one side, is considered the ultra-smart manner of finishing the blouse, bodice or jumper in a sports or semi-sports frock.

Skirts are new in cut and in the handling of the fabric, wool or silk, of which they are made. A conspicuous detail in the design of plaited and gathered skirts in particular is the massing of the fullness in front.

Paris millinery in the present season, as it is translated into the mode for this country, is an almost brimless affair.

HEDDA HOYT TELLS ABOUT SHORT SLEEVES

By HEDDA HOYT
New York, Feb. 28.—(UP)—Short sleeves, dead and buried these past few years, have been dug up again or summer usage. At least, some of the foremost Parisian designers are sponsoring short-sleeved dresses, many of which are of sports type.

Until now sleeves had to be either long or entirely lacking. Now, however, we find sleeves that extend midway between shoulder and elbow and these may be plain or puffed. For afternoon wear short sleeves of transparent chiffon are being featured. Other afternoon frocks have bertha collars which partially cover the upper arm.

Summer ensemble suits often have coats with long sleeves posed over sleeveless frocks of matching material. Just now, we notice several long-sleeved afternoon frocks worn with sleeveless coats. We have also seen instances of this mode at the dinner hour when black lace gowns with long sleeves have accompanying sleeveless lace or georgette jackets. The short bolero is also worn with long-sleeved afternoon frocks but in this case the bolero is usually part of the frock itself and not a separate coat.

The most becoming type of short sleeve to my mind is when the shoulder of the frock is elongated to cover a portion of the upper arm. Sleeves extending midway between shoulder and elbow seem rather unbecoming to most arms. Where one is young short balloon sleeves or puffs are both youthful and becoming but Matrons find that their upper arms look best when partially concealed by chiffon drapery or flowing panels. Short fitted sleeves or puffs would be quite as fatal to mature figures as the sleeveless mode. Stout arms should be concealed in some manner and should never be outlined by tight-fitting sleeves. Medium loose sleeves or flowing draperies which extend from the shoulder are far preferable.

Toll Taken by Hail

It is estimated that throughout the world hail extracts from the human race in one year a toll of something like $200,000,000.

Elizabethan Frills in Winter Fashion Picture

The Elizabethan influence on modern English fashions is emphasized by pierrot frills on the new winter frocks. Short hair is believed responsible for the vogue for neck ornamentation. It is exemplified by high collars made of strings around the neck. The tulle bow has come in again on a gigantic scale. With light dresses a black velvet band is worn around the neck and is finished off at the side-back by an immense bow of tulle. The black band must fit closely around the neck in order to give the bow its full value, and fairly stiff tulle is used so that it may stick out as much as Queen Elizabeth's duff. With gray hair, gray tulle is used.

Large Envelope Bags of Embroidered Silk

Envelope bags of good proportion and made of rich silks embroidered in ecclesiastical themes serve to accentuate the feeling of ease and luxury that accompanies a very elaborate wardrobe. These bags follow the general color tones and styling of the very modern bags. In many of them the single color scheme is developed, especially in those of silver and gold. In this way such a bag may be carried with impunity with most any color scheme.

Jersey Jumpers

For the Southern sports costumes, Jersey is becoming more and more popular. A straight navy blue coat is frequently worn over a white Jersey frock. Unborn calfskins are used occasionally to trim these knitted costumes.

Referendum Before War

The Smithsonian Institution says that the holding of a referendum on war was the accepted method among organized Indian tribes like the Iroquoian and Muskogean tribes. This was mentioned by Lafitau in his writings published in 1724.

FIERCE STORMS ON NORTH PACIFIC MODERATING TODAY

GREATER PART OF 270 SMALL
BOATS OF HALIBUT FLEET
STILL OUT

SEVERAL STRUGGLE TO PORT
WITH HARROWING ACCOUNTS
OF STORM

Seward, Alaska, Feb. 28.—(UP)—Fierce storms which are believed to have wreaked havoc in the north Pacific during the past week, were moderating today.

Greater part of the 270 small boats comprising the Alaskan halibut fleet are still unaccounted for. No disasters, however, have been reported.

Several of the vessels have struggled into various Alaskan harbors with harrowing accounts of prolonged battle with towering breakers on the fishing banks.

The fleet has been scattered widely, it was believed, even if none of the ships have been lost, veteran sailors at Seward said. It will be some time before the halibut unit is gathered together again for concerted fishing.

PRETTY FLAPPERS OF CHINA USED AS PROPAGANDISTS

southern forces avoided battle to await arrival of reinforcements.

In the 48 hours since the vanguard of the Cantonese reached the outskirts of Sung Kiang and then withdrew to a position a few miles from the city, troops from the south have been advancing by forced marches to support their speedier comrades.

At the same time, the army of Chang Chung-Chang was replacing the troops of Sun Chuan-Fang, tired from their retreat from Hangchow. Chang's northern warriors continued to swarm through Shanghai on their way to the front, and the marshal said he had a quarter of a million men ready for immediate action.

While both sides prepared for the battle which may decide the fate of Shanghai, British and other Occidental troops continued to protect the foreign settlement from looting and rioting.

Friction arose between the foreign troops in the settlement and native leaders over an order of Shanghai Defense Commissioner Li Paohang, closing the Woosung entrance to the Whangpoo river from 6 P. M. to 6 A. M., and over arrest of alleged Cantonese agents in the settlement by Li's agents.

Closing the river seriously interfered with foreign shipping.

French police were ordered to take the strongest measures to prevent activity of Li's men in the French concession after it was charged Cantonese agents had been kidnapped. That, the French said, violated neutrality agreements.

Shanghai University, notorious as a communist center, was closed by native police.

More British troops landed from the steamer Magnatic, which was used as an American transport during the world war. With their arrival, General Duncan took over control of all the British forces in Shanghai. After an inspection of the defense lines, however, he was forced to take to his bed with a slight fever.

Eight more British transports are understood to be coming to Shanghai.

"I can raise a million men to drive the Cantonese into the sea," Chang Chung-Chang said today, after returning from Sung Kiang, where he had inspected his defenses. "I am here, and Shanghai is safe."

He took up temporary residence in the foreign settlement.

Sun Chuan-Fang, whom he relieved as defender of Shanghai, is tired, Chang said, but added, "with Chang Tso-Lin, Sun and I are masters in China now."

Reports that Sun would relinquish all command over his army and flee to Japan still circulated, however.

Order Was Placed

The teacher of the kindergarten Sunday school class was asking each member if there was a little brother or sister at home who might soon be eligible for admission to the class. One little boy, as he heard the proud responses of the children in front of him, felt that he was rapidly losing caste.

"No, ma'am," he admitted reluctantly, then added in sudden desperation, "But we're going to get one!"

The Only Girl

Jack had just asked Jill to marry him, and she had murmured, "Yes." "Jack, dear," asked Jill, after a long silence, "am I the only girl?" "Jill, darling," he interrupted, "don't ask me if you are the only girl I have ever loved. You know it as well as I do."

"That wasn't the question at all, Jack," she answered. "I was just going to ask you if I was the only girl who would have you."

Jumper Outfit in Favor at Resorts

Materials Include Ensemble
and in Dots.

From this time until spring is well on the way the scene of activities in the world of fashion will be largely south of the Mason and Dixon line. The winter vacation becomes each year more general and is now a thing for which extensive preparations are made. Paris couturiers and American dressmakers, observes a fashion writer in the New York Times, are keenly aware of the importance of the southern resort season, with its rivalries, and create for it their artistic best in styles. Palm Beach has become a label for dress of the type required for the southern winter season, but the playgrounds are many and the horizon of sunny lands is wide. There are all the resorts and clubs at all the semitropical inland places and waters, the mountains, springs, beaches and pine woods, to which the world of fashion travels, with proper equipment, which means a harvest time for designers and merchants.

Each of the fashionable winter resorts is a style center for which a definite type of dress is required. The most varied and elaborate wardrobe is, of course, for the seashore places. For these, one whose social activities are general selects costumes for many occasions—for morning, noon and night. There must be up-to-date clothes for the beach and the ballroom, for the tennis court and golf grounds and for the tea garden.

An entirely different outfit is needed for the country clubs at the springs and in the mountains. There are more sports clothes, for riding, hiking, golfing and for general wear, where the changes are less arduous. In the smartest communities evening dress is distinctly important and the latest things in gowns, wraps and accessories are worn for the dinners and dances.

Because of the prominence given to outdoor affairs, sports dress is particularly attractive, and the most swaggy sports clothes seen in years have been designed for this season. New fabrics, new colors and original combinations are the features most conspicuous, with a tendency to more femininity in style. This applies to all of the season's fashions and particularly to southern resort togs, which also forecast to some extent the styles for early spring.

The Traveling Costume.
Whatever the destination, the first requirement of a journey southward is a traveling outfit. This year a definite type is evident in the traveling costume which will serve for many knockabout occasions as the season goes on. The jumper two-piece—the suit which is in effect a two-piece, but in reality all one garment—and the one-piece part of an ensemble, the sort of frock that was introduced as the coat dress a few years ago, are all being worn. Ensemble is the term which describes the most fashionable and practical style in dress, and material is largely an individual matter. Crepe and silk are the preference for some who wear a heavier sort of outer wrap, but the lightweight woolsens are having a tremendous vogue because of the particularly fine fitness of the new weaves.

Among the many fabrics shown in the latest costumes designed for travel and general wear are small birdseye checks and fine tweeds, reps, cashmeres and wool crepes. These are used for ensembles, for suits and for one-piece dresses in several arrangements and combinations of materials. Some conventional checks and dots in prints of two or three tones are introduced in the dress and for the lining of the coat. It is usual to carry the fabric of the dress over as a lining for the topcoat, a manner of handling that is both smart and serviceable.

Some of the newest materials, wool or wool and silk interweaves, are as light as pure silk or crepe, charming and grateful in ensembles and of infinite service for southern wear. There are, for example, the fine reps almost as thin and as closely woven as veiling, suitable for ensembles that will be worn going South and for early spring in the North. These are shown in plain colors—browns, blues, beiges and greens—which in the making are trimmed with brilliant dashes of color. Then there are the reversible checks, stripes, arrowheads, overpatterns, some of them showing the design in infinitesimal checks, refined, dainty and having an unmistakable quality of elegance. Some of the most attractive of these materials have a foundation of wool exceedingly fine, with the pattern traced in silk.

Two-Tone Silk Dress for Morning or Afternoon Wear.

Taffeta de Laine.

Among the finer fabrics of this type is a taffeta de laine, light and delicate as thistledown, closely woven, with a small block pattern outlined in silk. This material has something of the character of mohair and of slightly more weight than silk, but an especially happy choice for a climate of warm days and cool evenings in the open. It is slightly more elaborate than the heavier woolsens and makes charming frocks and ensembles for the younger women. These featherweight woolsens and others with one thread of silk are designed for the more feminine sports dress, such as a woman will wear for lunch or tea at a mountain or seaside and are particularly fetching in light and bright colors with white. With these jumper suits and with the smartly tailored and plaited skirts are worn blouses of new and quite lovely design. These are, of course, of silk or crepe in plain colors, worked up with minute pin tucks, and much fagoting and drawn work is being used. The best of these are done altogether by hand, although there are to be had many attractive blouses in which the exquisite styles are reproduced by machine.

In some original models received from Jenny and Jane Regny, a one-piece frock is really all in one, the bodice being joined to the skirt at a low waistline which is really about the hips. In each of these the bodice of white wool is trimmed in geometric pattern, done with the material of the skirt, which is black or colored satin crepe. In one from Jenny the skirt is of black satin plaited and the sleeves are made of this, with bands applied at wide spaced intervals around the bodice. In another from the same house pale green crepe is trimmed with bands of dark green cloth, which is plaited in with the material of the skirt and applied in curving bands at the neck, down one side of the blouse and as a fancy belt.

Combination of Fabrics.

Treatment by Jane Regny of two fabrics in combination is rather different and more striking; she uses very wide bands of contrasting colors and bold patterns. The colors of these frocks of Parisian authorship are of several styles. On one model the neck is cut round, with the usual encircling choker of beads. Another is slashed in a shallow V, as the edges are turned back to form coat-like revers. In another model the blouse is cut high and buttoned at one side, following the line with which the frock itself is finished. The high-cut neck, with a cravat tied at one side, is considered the ultra-smart manner of finishing the blouse, bodice or jumper in a sports or semi-sports frock.

Skirts are new in cut and in the handling of the fabric, wool or silk, of which they are made. A conspicuous detail in the design of plaited and gathered skirts in particular is the massing of the fullness in front.

Paris millinery in the present season, as it is translated into the mode for this country, is an almost brimless affair.

SENDING UNORDERED MERCHANDISE THROUGH MAILED

As a matter of principle many people are opposed to sending of unordered merchandise through the mails. A good many of these requests are accompanied by literature which is, apparently, an appeal to charity. While there may be many worthy cases, yet it is very difficult to determine where needed assistance ends and excess profits begin.

The Better Business Bureau of St. Louis, Incorporated, is qualified to investigate this sort of mail merchandising. The Bureau is formed to promote and maintain fair competition and dependability in advertising and merchandising, and to protect the public from imposition by those engaged in unfair and untruthful advertising of all kinds. Their experience, they claim, shows that this country is literally flooded with the sending of unordered merchandise through the mails.

We quote the Bureau's construction of procedure regarding receipt of such merchandise:

"A recipient of unordered merchandise is under no obligation to perform the labor required to place that merchandise in the mails for return to the sender. It is sufficient that the merchandise be kept in a safe place for a reasonable length of time so that it may be handed to a personal representative of the company should such a representative call and ask for the return of the merchandise. ## A SANE STATEMENT

The Princeton Union gives this sane editorial on evolution and anti-evolution:

"The fundamentalists are undoubtedly sincere in their good intentions to stop the teaching of pernicious doctrines that undermine the morals of the youth, but it is beyond the comprehension of many of those who believe in the theory of evolution why Dr. Riley's followers should become so excited about the matter. As human beings we judge by results. A school is judged by its graduates. The doctrines of a church may best be judged by the effect they have on those who profess to believe in them and follow them. The majority of people who profess to believe in the theory of evolution seem to be living on just as high a plane as the fundamentalists, in fact they have a trifle advantage over the latter group because they seem to be at peace with the world."

"If believing in and teaching the theory of evolution creates no more havoc with our civilization than it has thus far, why not allow those who feel so inclined to continue believing and studying that theory? It is the height of foolishness to attempt to enact laws against teaching the theory of evolution because the human race has now traveled so far along its upward march that laws cannot be passed in civilized countries that will prevent men from thinking the thoughts they choose to work over in their minds. The endeavor seems so futile and the end so worthless that it does not merit serious opposition."

MARRIED WOMEN AS TEACHERS

The Minneapolis Journal takes this sane view of the question of appointing married women as teachers:

"Controversy over the appointment of married women to teaching positions in the Minneapolis schools flares up anew in the Board of Education, which is expected finally to adopt a fixed and definite policy on the question at an early meeting."

"But why should any hard and fast rule govern a matter of this kind? There should be no question of which teacher is more in need of the job, but of which teacher may be expected to do the better work."

"There are doubtless many married women whose multifarious domestic interests preclude their giving to their educational duties the attention such duties deserve. Home problems rather than school problems might be uppermost in their minds."

"On the other hand, there are doubtless many married women teachers pre-eminently fitted for schoolroom activities."

"Why not decide each application on its merits, employing the married woman who gives promise of satisfactory performance, turning down the married woman who does not, and giving to the single woman the benefit of the doubt, when teaching qualifications are seemingly equal?"

OPPOSES DIVERTING STATE AID FUNDS

The effort to divert part of the 1-mill state road tax from highways to county and possibly township roads is neither intelligent or fair. The great cities cheerfully pay into that fund far more than they receive from it. They are willing to do this in the interest of better highways throughout the state. Their representatives show public spirit in supporting and upholding the law as it stands.

If the country legislators selfishly try to get further local benefits from the fund, most of which is paid by Minneapolis and St. Paul and Duluth property, how long does anybody think it will be before a combination of the legislators from these and a few other centers of population will be organized, to defeat the entire system that is working so well now for rural and small town interests? BY William B. Courtney

"MATINEE LADIES," with May McAvoy, is a Warner Bros. picture of this novel.

SYNOPSIS

Bob Ward, working his way through college, is informed by his chums, Freddy and Arch, that they have found an easy and profitable way to earn money—working as dancing partners, of afternoons, for rich women in a fashionable New Jersey roadhouse. Bob thinks it isn't a fit way to make a living; but, faced with eviction for unpaid rent, reluctantly agrees to go to the roadhouse. There he sees the prettiest, sweetest girl he had ever laid eyes on. She disappears, while his chums are presenting him to the proprietress, Madame Leonine.

CHAPTER III—Continued

"Thanks, Madame Leonine," said Arch. "We're glad you like Bob. We knew you would—because he's the despair of every loveless girl who comes to the school dances and the champion hooper of New York University to boot, along with being this year's All-American tackle. Gee, what better combination could you want to bring business to your dance hall?"

Madame Leonine chased Freddy and Arch off to the dressing rooms, to hurry into their ballroom shoes and the light, neat, natty serge suits they wore for the dancing. Then she took personal charge of Bob.

"I suppose the boys told you something of the work—of what is required of you here?" she asked affably.

Bob, wondering where in tarnation that sweet girl had gone to, turned his eyes upon the Amazon, and confessed that they had not told him much—that he was still a good deal in darkness.

Madame Leonine linked arms with him, and promenade deliberately along the rim of the dance floor, leading him toward the dressing rooms, but at the same time seizing the chance to show him off to the lady customers already assembled.

She explained to Bob: "Some of the best known society women of New York, and of the nearby New Jersey residential suburbs, are my regular patrons. Real swells. I have the finest dance orchestra in the East playing here every afternoon, for my busiest time is in the afternoon. Really, this place is run mostly for the matinee ladies. At night we have a good business, with stenographers and their bosses and such like, out to strut and perspire a bit. I don't need any waiters and then. The night hawk bring their own entertainment, both on their arm and on their hip. But in the afternoon I have to furnish it, for it isn't considered the proper thing for ladies to have their gay boy friends the same as the T.B.s. Why, I don't know. Silly stuff, eh? But be that as it may, my money lies in giving these dance hungry ladies the best looking, and best dancing, partners I can get. That's why I hired your boy friends. And that's why I told you to fetch me the handsomest boy in New York University!"

The Madame bent a sidewise glance up at Bob. "And I'll say they followed my instructions to the letter. If you can dance as well as you can smile and look, these rich dames will be clawing for you like housewives around a bargain counter!"

The Madame was a many-faceted jewel. She could descend to the familiar patois of the dressing rooms, and she could ascend to the nasal high-tones and affectations of the politest salon. With Bob she chose to be just chummy and natural, which meant pungently informative, to say the least.

The Madame, too, could not help but notice with a great deal of satisfaction that Bob was the target of many admiring glances from the idling, drink-sipping, gossiping matinee flappers of twenty-five to forty-five. Many of the women made assertive grimaces, furtive looks of understanding, at Madame—each thus claiming a special privilege, as a friend or old customer.

Bob did not feel that he was being introduced to the athletic Lothario. Upon one and all the Madame bestowed the wide sunshine of her smile. Bob did not notice. His eyes were searching for something that the Madame would not recognize if she saw. That is, she would not see in it what he saw in it! Which means—the same.

"Do—do—any of your—err—err—patrons—come here sometimes in costume?" Bob asked.

The Madame looked at him peculiarly. What a nutty question!

"No," she said crisply, "this ain't a masquerade!"

Then Bob was sure he had been dreaming. He felt depressed. He wanted to turn right around and go out and walk in the woods and dream and never stop wandering. Something had miraculously filled his life for an instant, like a holy candle flame, and then had gone out again—as mysteriously, unaccountably, as it had entered.

SENDING UNORDERED MERCHANDISE THROUGH MAILS

As a matter of principle many people are opposed to sending of unordered merchandise through the mails. A good many of these requests are accompanied by literature which is, apparently, an appeal to charity. While there may be many worthy cases, yet it is very difficult to determine where needed assistance ends and excess profits begin.

The Better Business Bureau of St. Louis, Incorporated, is qualified to investigate this sort of mail merchandising. The Bureau is formed to promote and maintain fair competition and dependability in advertising and merchandising, and to protect the public from imposition by those engaged in unfair and untruthful advertising of all kinds. Their experience, they claim, shows that this country is literally flooded with the sending of unordered merchandise through the mails.

We quote the Bureau's construction of procedure regarding receipt of such merchandise:

"A recipient of unordered merchandise is under no obligation to perform the labor required to place that merchandise in the mails for return to the sender. It is sufficient that the merchandise be kept in a safe place for a reasonable length of time so that it may be handed to a personal representative of the company should such a representative call and ask for the return of the merchandise. The recipient should not use the merchandise because its use would signify acceptance of the offer. No doubt, the failure of recipients to return merchandise except upon personal call, would have a tendency to discourage the sending of unordered merchandise by mail. The Better Business Bureau regards this particular method of merchandising as a nuisance to the public as well as an unfair method of competition to legitimate business. We believe a test will convince you that the average lot of merchandise sent through the mails without request, accompanied by a direct or indirect appeal for charity, will not appraise as high in value as similar merchandise purchased from your local store."

BRAINERD HIGH SUFFERED DOUBLE DEFEAT

MOTLEY WINS FROM GIRLS, 21-19 SCORE

BOYS SECOND TEAM LOSES TO CROSBY-IRONTON, 11 TO 9

BOTH GAMES WERE HEART-BREAKERS FOR LOCAL FANS

B. H. S. suffered a double defeat Saturday evening when the girls' quint was defeated by Motley, 21-19 and the boys' second team by Crosby-Ironton, 11-9. Both games were heartbreakers, the local teams leading in each contest until the last few minutes of play and were very exciting and interesting throughout.

Practically the entire town of Motley turned out to root for their team which has won two out of three games from the Brainerd girls this season. Although the game had been on ice several times throughout the contest Brainerd always managed to come out on top and it was a rather dazed group of visiting fans reacting from the tense moments of play that finally realized that the tide of victory had turned in their favor.

A tragic incident in the first quarter was the barring of Helen Beggs from further play in the contest. Helen, who is captain of the team, was playing her last game before graduation, completing four years of service for the high school, when she was put out for three personal fouls. Dorothy Kleven was put in and played a marvelous game, besides sinking three cagers.

The line-ups: Brainerd—Molstad, Lewis, forwards; Beggs, Alzant, centers; Storm, Jackson, guards; Kleven, Liners, subs.

Motley—Josephine, Ross, H. Storhagen, forwards; M. Haymaker, M. Hogan, centers; E. Montgomery, B. Deline, guards; sub—Johnson for Ross.

Scoring: Field goals—Molstad 2, Kleven 3, Lewis 1, Beggs 1, Alzant 1, Ross 3, H. Storhagen 5, M. Haymaker 2.

Free throws made—Molstad 2, Kleven 1, Ross 2, H. Storhagen 1, M. Haymaker 1.

The Crosby-Ironton second team nosed out a two-point victory in a thrilling contest. The range quint came back for revenge and succeeded in the last quarter when after nip and tuck playing they broke the tie with a field goal just a mere second before the whistle.

The line-ups: Brainerd—Lawrenz, Paine, forwards; R. Bentley, center; A. Hautala, C. Welliver, guards; H. Goederz, sub.

Crosby-Ironton—Johnson, Wickstrom, forwards; Bennett, center; Oberg, Blom, guards; Woods, Burklund, Kruger, subs.

Scoring: Field goals—Lawrenz 2, Bentley 1, Hautala 1, Bennett 1, Blom 1, Burklund 1.

Free throws made—Hautala 1, Johnson 1, Wickstrom 2, Bennett 2.

HAD INTENDED TO PUT BOSTON HEAVYWEIGHT AGAINST PAOLINO

MALONEY'S MANAGER NOT ENTHUSED OVER ANOTHER BIG INDOOR FIGHT

By HENRY L. FARRELL (United Press Staff Correspondent) New York, Feb. 28.—Tex Rickard's plans to match Jim Maloney, Boston heavyweight and Paolino, the Spanish strong boy, for another number of his elimination tournament on March 25 have met with an unexpected obstacle.

Dan Carroll, Maloney's manager admitted to the writer that he would not consider another big indoor fight against any opponent, making it clear that he took that stand for business reasons only.

"I think Paolino would be a cinch for Maloney and so does Jim but we don't want to sacrifice any more money by fighting indoors," he said. "We think we played ball by accepting the Delaney match inside when we could have gotten twice as much in a ball park. We accepted that match to prove Maloney was serious in his ambition to become the champion and that he was not out for money alone."

Carroll and Rickard conferred Saturday but it was understood no definite terms were discussed, Rickard merely wanting to know if Maloney could accept the March 25 date.

Rickard has Maloney under contract to go through the eliminations but he intimated he wouldn't force

The juniors have won all of their four games played to date, while the intermediates have won three and lost none.

The Presbyterians, playing the Evangelical Juniors tonight, and the Lutherans, who play them Wednesday night, represent the last hopes of the other churches to stop the fast-stopping Evangelicals. The Lutherans have lost two games, and if these two teams can inflict a double defeat to the Evangelicals, a tie will result.

FLYING ACES MANAGEMENT CONTENDS THAT RAINBOWS ARE NOT SO GOOD

GAME TO DECIDE CHAMPIONSHIP TO BE PLAYED TOMORROW EVENING

As a comeback to the Rainbow management statements, relative to the cage clash Tuesday night, that the Flying Aces made the request that Engbretson, star forward of the Rainbows be barred from the lineup, George Erickson, manager of the Flying Aces emphatically denies that he or any of his men made this request.

Erickson has the following statement to make today to the followers of basketball in the city who are enthusiastic over the outcome of Tuesday evening's game at the high school which will decide the championship of the city:

"The Flying Aces management wishes to meet the Rainbows at their best and would be greatly grieved if all of their players could not participate in the game.

"Manager Peterson also states that they have met the best teams in the state, which means absolutely nothing but defeat. We may be wrong in assuming that the object in basketball is to defeat not only to meet the opponents.

"Since the game in which the Flying Aces defeated the high school Rainbows made the statement that the Aces had the opinion they could beat the world and for that reason they challenged the Rainbows to a game. The question uppermost in the minds of the Aces is 'do the Rainbows think they are the world.'"

CROSBY GIRLS MEET FLYING QUEENS AS THIRD BIG CONTEST

FEATURE PROGRAM TUESDAY WILL BE BIGGEST BASKETBALL SPECTACLE OF YEAR

RAINBOWS AND FLYING ACES CHAMPING AT BITS AS GAME TIME NEARS

Another big preliminary game has been added to the feature program tomorrow night at the high school, the Crosby girls team meeting the Flying Queens as the first preliminary in a card that will end with the Flying Aces and Rainbows battling for the city independent championship.

The Flying Queens are made up of former high school stars who have played several games in independent girls' contests this year. During their playing life at the high school, they enjoyed an enviable reputation of never having tasted defeat.

The program tomorrow night is the biggest basketball treat of the year, starting off with the girls game at 7:30 p. m., following which the ministers will take on Doc Steinfield's gang of desperadoes, after which will come the battle of the ages, the Rainbows-Flying Aces clash about which so much comment is being heard all over the city. And all three games will cost only a total of twenty-five cents, making the night's entertainment a real bargain for basketball lovers.

The Rainbows will line up with Engbretson and Lawrenz, forwards; Beresford, center, and Tribur and Welsh guards, with Larson, Erickson, Orth, Fitzsimmons and Nutting ready as reserves. The Flying Aces have not announced their line-up, but it is expected that it will include Bill Heikkinen and Avery at forwards, Whitlock at center, and Otto Heikkinen and Laitila at guards, with Fitzharris, Gabiou and Kukko as substitutes.

COL. RUPPERT HINTS CHANGING RUTH CONTRACT

DISCUSSES DEMANDS OF BAMBINO FOR $100,000 A YEAR

COLONEL FAILS TO COMMIT HIMSELF AS TO NEW SALARY OFFER

New York, Feb. 28.—(UP)—"There is likely to be some change made in the contract which we offered him," Col. Jake Ruppert, owner of the New York Yankees, said today in discussing the demand Babe Ruth made for a two-year contract at $100,000 a year.

The colonel was asked if the Babe could expect a raise above the $52,000 that was offered in the first contract mailed to him in California and he replied that it was possible. He would not commit himself, however, on how much the slugging star could expect.

"That is a matter to be settled between us and I am sure that we will have no difficulty in reaching an agreement. It would be safe to bet that Ruth will be playing right field with the Yankees when the season opens," Ruppert said.

While Ruppert would not comment directly on the demand of the Babe, it was understood from his close friends that the Yankee owner thinks a salary of $100,000 a year for two years is beyond reason.

"I want it understood," Ruppert said, "that there is no hard feeling about this matter. I didn't get mad about that letter. It was a good letter—even if the Babe didn't write it. He's not mad and when he gets here this week we'll talk it over."

It was a bet around Broadway today that the Babe would get pretty close to what he wants if he doesn't get everything he demands.

The public has been deluged with Hornsby publicity since the former manager of the champion Cardinals went to the Giant training camp and Ruth is the only player who can attract attention to the Yankees. He is the greatest drawing card in the game and has the entire support of the public.

LINCOLN BASEBALL TEAM STRENGTHENED

Lincoln, Neb., Feb. 28.—(UP)—John "Doc" Lavan, former manager of the Kansas City Blues of the American association, returned to Kansas City today to seek material for strengthening the reorganized Lincoln baseball team of the Western league.

Lavan signed a contract Sunday with Dick Breen, Des Moines, Ia., owner of the Lincoln club, to be playing manager of the local club. Lavan hopes to secure help from the Kansas City team in building a stronger local club.

Helen Walwright and Aileen Riggins will appear with Miss Ederle in a new act but they will be paid separately by the management.

MICHIGAN AGAIN IS ATOP BIG TEN BASKETBALL RACE

APPARENTLY BUT ONE OBSTACLE TO THE CHAMPION SHIP

FURDUE INVADES ANN ARBOR FOR SECOND GAME OF THE YEAR

Chicago, Feb. 28.—(UP)—Michigan again rested atop the Big Ten basketball race today, with apparently but one stumbling block between the Wolverines and the championship.

Michigan meets one of this season's most severe tests tonight when Purdue invades Ann Arbor for the second game of the year with the leaders. The Rollermakers handed Michigan its first defeat two weeks ago and if the Wolverines can reverse the tables tonight only Chicago and Iowa will remain in the way before the season ends.

Inasmuch as the latter two are considered not so good, a victory to night would probably give Michigan the championship.

Other games scheduled for this week include:

Monday—Wisconsin at Illinois. Purdue at Michigan. Saturday—Michigan at Chicago. Illinois at Wisconsin. Northwestern at Indiana. Iowa at Ohio State. Purdue at Minnesota.

The Saturday schedule makes every team in the conference see action during the evening.

Daugherty, the Illinois star, leads the individual scorers with 11 field goals and 17 free throw points, for a total of 39. Hunt of Ohio State is second with 31 and Gleichmann, Northwestern, has 31 for third place.

BRAINERD HIGH SUFFERED DOUBLE DEFEAT

MOTLEY WINS FROM GIRLS, 21-19 SCORE

BOYS SECOND TEAM LOSES TO CROSBY-IRONTON, 11 TO 9

BOTH GAMES WERE HEART-BREAKERS FOR LOCAL FANS

B. H. S. suffered a double defeat Saturday evening when the girls' quint was defeated by Motley, 21-19 and the boys' second team by Crosby-Ironton, 11-9. Both games were heartbreakers, the local teams leading in each contest until the last few minutes of play and were very exciting and interesting throughout.

Practically the entire town of Motley turned out to root for their team which has won two out of three games from the Brainerd girls this season. Although the game had been on ice several times throughout the contest Brainerd always managed to come out on top and it was a rather dazed group of visiting fans reacting from the tense moments of play that finally realized that the tide of victory had turned in their favor.

A tragic incident in the first quarter was the barring of Helen Beggs from further play in the contest. Helen, who is captain of the team, was playing her last game before graduation, completing four years of service for the high school, when she was put out for three personal fouls. Dorothy Kleven was put in and played a marvelous game, besides sinking three cagers.

The line-ups: Brainerd—Molstad, Lewis, forwards; Beggs, Alzant, centers; Storn, Jackson, guards; Kleven, liners, subs.

Motley—Josephine Ross, H. Storn, forwards; M. Haymaker, M. Hogan, centers; E. Montgomery, B. Deline, guards; sub—Johnson for Ross.

Scoring: Field goals—Molstad 2, Kleven 3, Lewis 1, Beggs 1, Alzant 1, Ross 3, H. Storn 5, M. Haymaker 2.

Free throws made—Molstad 2, Kleven 1, Ross 2, H. Storn 1, M. Haymaker 1.

The Crosby-Ironton second team nosed out a two-point victory in a thrilling contest. The range quint came back for revenge and succeeded in the last quarter when after nip and tuck playing they broke the tie with a field goal just a mere second before the whistle.

The line-ups: Brainerd—Lawrenz, Paine, forwards; R. Welliver, center; A. Hautala, C. Welliver, guards; H. Goedderz, sub.

Crosby-Ironton—Johnson, Wickstrom, forwards; Bennett, center; Oberg, Blom, guards; Woods, Burkland, Kruger, subs.

Scoring: Field goals—Lawrenz 2, Bennett 1, Hautala 1, Bennett 1, Blom 1, Burkland 1.

Free throws made—Hautala 1, Johnson 1, Wickstrom 2, Bennett 2.

RICKARD'S PLANS WITH MALONEY MEET OPPOSITION

HAD INTENDED TO PUT BOSTON HEAVYWEIGHT AGAINST PAOLINO

MALONEY'S MANAGER NOT ENTHUSED OVER ANOTHER BIG INDOOR FIGHT

By HENRY L. FARRELL (United Press Staff Correspondent) New York, Feb. 28.—Tex Rickard's plans to match Jim Maloney, Boston heavyweight and Paolino, the Spanish strong boy, for another number of his elimination tournament on March 25 have met with an unexpected obstacle.

Dan Carroll, Maloney's manager, admitted to the writer that he would not consider another big indoor fight against any opponent, making it clear that he took that stand for business reasons only.

"I think Paolino would be a cinch for Maloney and so does Jim but we don't want to sacrifice any more money by fighting indoors," he said. "We think we played ball by accepting the Delaney match inside when we could have gotten twice as much in a ball park. We accepted that match to prove Maloney was serious in his ambition to become the champion and that he was not out for money alone."

Carroll and Rickard conferred Saturday but it was understood no definite terms were discussed, Rickard merely wanting to know if Maloney could accept the March 25 date.

Rickard has Maloney under contract to go through the eliminations but he intimated he wouldn't force

EVANGELICALS LEAD IN BOTH DIVISIONS WITH NO GAMES LOST

FREBYTERIANS AND LUTHERANS LAST HOPE TO STOP EVANG. JUNIORS

Games Tonight at Y. M. C. A. 7:00—Evang. vs. Presby. Juniors 7:40—Evang. vs. Finnish Luth. Intermediates.

With the Sunday school teams going into the final week of play for the city church titles in basketball, the Evangelical teams enjoy a commanding lead over their opponents for both championships. The juniors have won all of their four games played to date, while the intermediates have won three and lost none.

The Presbyterians, playing the Evangelical Juniors tonight, and the Lutherans, who play them Wednesday night, represent the last hopes of the other churches to stop the fast-stepping Evangelicals. The Lutherans have lost two games, and if these two teams can inflict a double defeat on the Evangelicals, a tie will result.

The intermediate game tonight ought to prove more than a mere scheduled contest, with the Finnish Lutheran team coming along in fine shape. They will be prepared to give the Evangelicals a hard battle for the victory.

REGULATIONS FOR LENTEN SEASON

As Outlined by Rt. Rev. Thomas A. Welch, Bishop of Duluth

LENT STARTS WEDNESDAY

Rev. James Hogan Pastor of St. Francis Church Requests Observance

Members of the St. Francis church, Brainerd are requested by Rev. James Hogan, pastor, to observe the following regulations for the Lenten season which commences on Wednesday of this week, as outlined by Rt. Rev. Thomas A. Welch, Bishop of Duluth:

The law of abstinence binds all those over the age of seven. The law of fasting applies to all who are over twenty-one years of age and have not yet entered upon their sixtieth year, if they be not exempted by reason of their health or occupation.

On Wednesdays and Fridays and on Ember Saturday abstinence is prescribed. On these days flesh meat is not allowed, nor broth or soup made from meat.

"On fast days, those bound to fast are allowed one full meal, at or after mid-day. In addition, they are allowed two light meals, one of about eight ounces, at which butter, cheese, eggs, or fish may be taken in small quantities; the other of two or three ounces, at which a little butter may be taken."

Except on abstinence days, both meat and fish are allowed at the chief meal.

By a special Indult granted to the Bishops of the United States, working people who cannot easily observe the common law of the church may eat meat on all days of fast and abstinence throughout the year including the Lenten Season, except Fridays, Ash Wednesday, the Wednesday in Holy Week, Good Friday, the forenoon of Holy Saturday and Christmas eve. This dispensation includes not only the individual working man in whose favor it is granted, but all the members of his family as well.

The Lenten Fast, which does not include the Sundays, ends at noon on Holy Saturday.

By special Indult the time for complying with the precept of Paschal Communion extends from the first Sunday in Lent to Trinity Sunday, inclusive.

Services will be held at the St. Francis church every Sunday, Wednesday and Friday evenings during Lent at 7:30 o'clock. These services will vary according to the evenings as follows; as announced by Rev. Hogan:

Sundays

"The Holy Hour will be observed. The Holy Hour is one hour spent in direct adoration of Christ in the Blessed Sacrament. To aid the congregation in this sublime work, varied practices are introduced, for example, the Act of Consecration to the Sacred Heart of Jesus; the Act of Reparation for sins committed against our Lord are read; the Litany of the Holy Name is recited to beg God for the good use of speech. The Rosary is recited and the sermons during Lent will be the explanation of the various Articles of Faith contained in the Apostles Creed."

Wednesdays

"The devotion of the Rosary with proper hymns and sermon. The service for Ash Wednesday will be the proper intent of Lent, the virtue of Penance. Second Wednesday, the Sacrament of Penance as established by Christ; third Wednesday, the Chief Component part of Penance Contrition or sorrow for sin; fourth Wednesday, confession, preparation for confession and the manner of making a good confession; fifth Wednesday, the satisfaction of God's home, turned out for the ceremony."

justice; sixth Wednesday, bad confessions, a priest from out of town, a different one every Wednesday will have charge of the Wednesday service.

Fridays

"The choir sings the Stabat Mater Dolorosa—that admirable hymn composed by Gregory the Great, the sorrowful way of the Cross or the 'Stations,' as the devotion is more familiarly known. There is no sermon on the Friday of Lent, the Passion of Christ so clearly told in the Stations taking its place. The exception will be Good Friday, when Dr. Phillip Kiley of Aitkin will preach the sermon on the sufferings of our Lord. Benediction of the most blessed Sacrament will be given at the end of each service."

"Lent as the Church places it before us is not only a time of self denial by which we control and direct aright the unruly passions in us but is a time of prayer and serious thought towards God our sovereign Lord and author, built upon the example of Christ in His fast and prayer for us on the mountain."

"All are cordially invited to come and join in these services."

STATE BOARD CONTROL BUDGET GIVEN INCREASE

$338,300 ADDED OVER FIGURES ALLOWED BY "BIG THREE"

PRINCIPAL INCREASES COVER NEW BUILDINGS AT STATE INSTITUTIONS

St. Paul, Feb. 28.—(UP)—Increased by $338,300 over the amount allowed by the "Big Three" appropriations, the state board of control budget was reported to the senate today by the finance committee.

The committee set the appropriation at $8,797,450, which struck something of a balance as compared to the $9,495,850 requested by the board of control and $8,459,150 recommended by the commission of administration and finance.

The principal increases made by the committee are:

Addition of $81,000 for a new cottage at the hospital for the insane at St. Peter.

Provision for two, instead of one, additional cottages at the epileptic colony, Cambridge, adding $65,000.

Provision for another cottage at the state public school, Owatonna, $32,000.

Addition of $100,000 for the aid of counties in caring for tubercular patients.

Appropriating $10,000 for the Big Island marine camp.

WASH DAY IS TRAGEDY FOR A 3 YEAR OLD GIRL

Madison, Minn., Feb. 28.—(UP)—Wash day brought serious burns to Katherine, 3-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Copple, when she fell backwards into a boiler of hot water.

Although badly scalded about the back and legs, doctors declared today that Katherine might recover.

TWINS ON BOTH SIDES ARE MARRIED

Ionia, Mich., Feb. 28.—(UP)—Myron and Martin Schafer, twins, were on their way to New York today, honeymooning with Estelle and Esther Miller, respectively, also twins, to whom they were married at a double ceremony yesterday.

The entire village of Pewamo, their home, turned out for the ceremony.

Great Parks Chapters in History of World

It is significant that more and more emphasis is being laid upon the educational possibilities of national parks, nearly all of which are in the Far West. There are nearly 1,000 museums in this country, each one small and unimportant as compared with parks like Yellowstone, Glacier, Grand Canyon and Yosemite.

The old idea was to break off a specimen of rock or pick up a rare fossil or saw off a tree chunk and transfer them with great labor to a building where a few score persons might see them. But millions now go into the national parks, which are far greater museums.

Each one is a chapter in the history of the world. There are lessons in erosion, sedimentation and other processes by which the world was made.

Behind the depth, height, weight, mass and superficial beauty is the handiwork of the Creator, presented in such a way that all may comprehend, writes Albert W. Atwood in the Saturday Evening Post. We cannot worship Nature as earlier men did, but as one great scientist has said, the altars are to be found there, and one may be under the religious influence, as well as benefit physically and expand intellectually.

Of course there are those who having eyes never see. All over the world there are travelers who, no matter how many countries they visit, never leave home. Tourists rush through or by and behold nothing. A young couple in a fancy roadster, from an eastern state, tore at a high rate of speed past the marvelous Painted Desert of northern Arizona at a point where the main road goes close to the strange paint pot.

I cannot imagine even the most hardened old-timer passing the place without giving it at least a glance. A few hours later the same couple were playing golf west of Winslow.

Flying and Business

Fifty years ago people would have laughed at the suggestion that there might be a close relation between man's desire to fly and practical business.

Today flying is no longer a dream but a reality—and big business is making practical use of aviation.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has found the airplane to be a most valuable business asset.

From the beginning the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has had profound faith in the future of commercial aviation and has made a practical contribution to its development.

Anticipating the growth of commercial aviation, this Company foresaw the need for new and special products from petroleum, and immediately set out to develop them with scientific thoroughness.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) was successful in perfecting products to meet all the requirements of aviation.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) manufactures a large part of the gasoline and lubricating oils used by airplanes today.

The faith of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) in commercial aviation has proved well founded.

It is estimated that between 3,500 and 5,000 airplanes are now in commercial use in this country, besides the huge fleet of planes used in air mail transportation—and there are 3,608 landing fields in the United States.

The U. S. Air Mail, inaugurated on June 15, 1918, is the most successful exploit of its kind in the world. A total of approximately six million miles are flown by air mail planes annually. Much of the flying is done at night, and routes which total 9,450 miles are covered with systematic regularity.

The U. S. Air Mail is a dependable, nation-wide service that will grow steadily in scope and importance because this increase of speed in communication is needed in every part of the country. Industry is rapidly appreciating its tremendous commercial value.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) believes that the remarkable development of commercial aviation in the past year is preparation for a brilliant future.

Stimulus and growth through proper direction and control is assured through the issuance by the Department of Commerce of the Air Regulations for civil aviation.

Flying is becoming an increasingly important part of American business life.

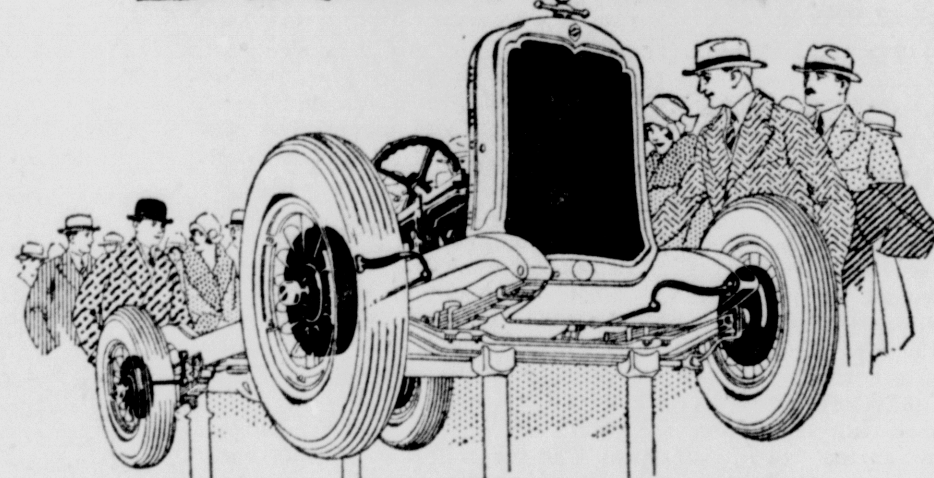

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) appreciates the value of commercial aviation in its own business of serving the thirty million people of the Middle West with constantly increasing efficiency and skill.

REGULATIONS FOR LENTEN SEASON

As Outlined by Rt. Rev. Thomas A. Welch, Bishop of Duluth

LENT STARTS WEDNESDAY

Rev. James Hogan Pastor of St. Francis Church Requests Observance

Members of the St. Francis church, Brainerd, are requested by Rev. James Hogan, pastor, to observe the following regulations for the Lenten season which commences on Wednesday of this week, as outlined by Rt. Rev. Thomas A. Welch, Bishop of Duluth:

The law of abstinence binds all those over the age of seven. The law of fasting applies to all who are over twenty-one years of age and have not yet entered upon their sixtieth year, if they be not exempted by reason of their health or occupation.

On Wednesdays and Fridays and on Ember Saturday abstinence is prescribed. On these days flesh meat is not allowed, nor broth or soup made from meat.

"On fast days, those bound to fast are allowed one full meal, at or after mid-day. In addition, they are allowed two light meals, one of about eight ounces, at which butter, cheese, eggs, or fish may be taken in small quantities; the other of two or three ounces, at which a little butter may be taken."

Except on abstinence days, both meat and fish are allowed at the chief meal.

By a special Indult granted to the Bishops of the United States, working people who cannot easily observe the common law of the church may eat meat on all days of fast and abstinence throughout the year including the Lenten Season, except Fridays, Ash Wednesday, the Wednesday in Holy Week, Good Friday, the forenoon of Holy Saturday and Christmas eve. This dispensation includes not only the individual working man in whose favor it is granted, but all the members of his family as well.

The Lenten Fast, which does not include the Sundays, ends at noon on Holy Saturday.

By special Indult the time for complying with the precept of Paschal Communion extends from the first Sunday in Lent to Trinity Sunday, inclusive.

Services will be held at the St. Francis church every Sunday, Wednesday and Friday evenings during Lent at 7:30 o'clock. These services will vary according to the evenings as follows; as announced by Rev. Hogan:

Sundays

"The Holy Hour will be observed. The Holy Hour is one hour spent in direct adoration of Christ in the Blessed Sacrament. To aid the congregation in this sublime work, varied practices are introduced, for example, the Act of Consecration to the Sacred Heart of Jesus; the Act of Reparation for sins committed against our Lord are read; the Litany of the Holy Name is recited to beg God for the good use of speech. The Rosary is recited and the sermons during Lent will be the explanation of the various Articles of Faith contained in the Apostles Creed."

Wednesdays

"The devotion of the Rosary with proper hymns and sermon. The service for Ash Wednesday will be the proper intent of Lent, the virtue of Penance. Second Wednesday, the Sacrament of Penance as established by Christ; third Wednesday, the Chief Component part of Penance Contrition or sorrow for sin; fourth Wednesday, confession, preparation for confession and the manner of making a good confession; fifth Wednesday, the satisfaction of God's justice; sixth Wednesday, bad confessions, a priest from out of town, a different one every Wednesday will have charge of the Wednesday service.

Fridays

"The choir sings the Stabat Mater Dolorosa—that admirable hymn composed by Gregory the Great, the sorrowful way of the Cross or the Stations, as the devotion is more familiarly known. There is no sermon on the Friday of Lent, the Passion of Christ so clearly told in the Stations taking its place. The exception will be Good Friday, when Dr. Phillip Kiley of Aitkin will preach the sermon on the sufferings of our Lord. Benediction of the most blessed Sacrament will be given at the end of each service."

"Lent as the Church places it before us is not only a time of self denial by which we control and direct aright the unruly passions in us but is a time of prayer and serious thought towards God our sovereign Lord and author built upon the example of Christ in His fast and prayer for us on the mountain."

"All are cordially invited to come and join in these services."

STATE BOARD CONTROL BUDGET GIVEN INCREASE

$338,300 ADDED OVER FIGURES ALLOWED BY "BIG THREE"

PRINCIPAL INCREASES COVER NEW BUILDINGS AT STATE INSTITUTIONS

St. Paul, Feb. 28.—(UP)—Increased by $338,300 over the amount allowed by the "Big Three" appropriations, the state board of control budget was reported to the senate today by the finance committee.

The committee set the appropriation at $8,797,450, which struck something of a balance as compared to the $9,495,850 requested by the board of control and $8,459,150 recommended by the commission of administration and finance.

The principal increases made by the committee are:

Addition of $81,000 for a new cottage at the hospital for the insane at St. Peter.

Provision for two, instead of one, additional cottages at the epileptic colony, Cambridge, adding $65,000.

Provision for another cottage at the state public school, Owatonna, $32,000.

Addition of $100,000 for the aid of counties in caring for tubercular patients.

Appropriating $10,000 for the Big Island marine camp.

WASH DAY IS TRAGEDY FOR A 3 YEAR OLD GIRL

Madison, Minn., Feb. 28.—(UP)—Wash day brought serious burns to Katherine, 3-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Copple, when she fell backwards into a boiler of hot water.

Although badly scalded about the back and legs, doctors declared today that Katherine might recover.

TWINS ON BOTH SIDES ARE MARRIED

Ionia, Mich., Feb. 28.—(UP)—Myron and Martin Schafer, twins, were on their way to New York today, honeymooning with Estelle and Esther Miller, respectively, also twins, to whom they were married at a double ceremony yesterday.

The entire village of Pewamo, their home, turned out for the ceremony.

Great Parks Chapters in History of World

It is significant that more and more emphasis is being laid upon the educational possibilities of national parks, nearly all of which are in the Far West. There are nearly 1,000 museums in this country, each one small and unimportant as compared with parks like Yellowstone, Glacier, Grand Canyon and Yosemite.

The old idea was to break off a specimen of rock or pick up a rare fossil or saw off a tree trunk and transfer them with great labor to a building where a few score persons might see them. But millions now go into the national parks, which are far greater museums.

Each one is a chapter in the history of the world. There are lessons in erosion, sedimentation and other processes by which the world was made.

Behind the depth, height, weight, mass and superficial beauty is the handiwork of the Creator, presented in such a way that all may comprehend, writes Albert W. Atwood in the Saturday Evening Post. We cannot worship Nature as earlier men did, but as one great scientist has said, the altars are to be found there, and one may be under the religious influence, as well as benefit physically and expand intellectually.

Of course there are those who having eyes never see. All over the world there are travelers who, no matter how many countries they visit, never leave home. Tourists rush through or by and behold nothing. A young couple in a fancy roadster, from an eastern state, tore at a high rate of speed past the marvelous Painted Desert of northern Arizona at a point where the main road goes close to the strange paint pot.

I cannot imagine even the most hardened old-timer passing the place without giving it at least a glance. A few hours later the same couple were playing golf west of Winslow.

His Name Immortal

On January 17, 1706, Benjamin Franklin was born. He has not been proclaimed a genius by his biographers, but he is recognized as having been the supreme man of talent in American history. He died April 17, 1790.

Louisiana's Emblem

The librarian of the State Historical society of Louisiana says that he finds that in 1813 a Nashville notice reads, "Louisiana has chosen a pelican for her seal, because it is said it tears its breast to feed its young."

Flying and Business

Fifty years ago people would have laughed at the suggestion that there might be a close relation between man's desire to fly and practical business.

Today flying is no longer a dream but a reality—and big business is making practical use of aviation.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has found the airplane to be a most valuable business asset.

From the beginning the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has had profound faith in the future of commercial aviation and has made a practical contribution to its development.

Anticipating the growth of commercial aviation, this Company foresaw the need for new and special products from petroleum, and immediately set out to develop them with scientific thoroughness.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) was successful in perfecting products to meet all the requirements of aviation.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) manufactures a large part of the gasoline and lubricating oils used by airplanes today.

The faith of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) in commercial aviation has proved well founded.

It is estimated that between 3,500 and 5,000 airplanes are now in commercial use in this country, besides the huge fleet of planes used in air mail transportation—and there are 3,608 landing fields in the United States.

The U. S. Air Mail, inaugurated on June 15, 1918, is the most successful exploit of its kind in the world. A total of approximately six million miles are flown by air mail planes annually. Much of the flying is done at night, and routes which total 9,450 miles are covered with systematic regularity.

The U. S. Air Mail is a dependable, nation-wide service that will grow steadily in scope and importance because this increase of speed in communication is needed in every part of the country. Industry is rapidly appreciating its tremendous commercial value.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) believes that the remarkable development of commercial aviation in the past year is preparation for a brilliant future.

Credit Not Johnson's

When Doctor Johnson's "Rambler" was first published, the sale was decidedly disappointing. In fact the only paper, curious as it may seem in the light of his reputation today, which might be said to have been popular, was No. 97—the only one Doctor Johnson did not write. This paper, says the Market for Exchange, was said to have been written by Samuel Richardson.

FARMERS AID IN ROAD WORK

Long Lake Township Rural Community Sets Example of Co-operative Road Work

KEEP MAIN ROADS OPEN

Men Turn Out With Teams, Graders, and Snowplows to Cut Drifts

Farmers of Long Lake township have this winter set an example of cooperative road work, which has kept the main roads of that town open for travel throughout the winter. After each snowfall the men of the neighborhood have turned out with teams, graders and snowplows to cut through the drifts, making possible a saving of time in getting to and from Brainerd.

Last Wednesday afternoon seventeen teams were used to open a 23-foot roadway from the town line one and one-half miles south of Oak street on the poor farm road, known as the old creamery corner, to Sutton's corner four miles south.

The plow used was built especially for the work out of 36-foot car sills, in V-shape, three sills high, with the rear 23 feet wide. The plow was built by Oscar Olson, Axel Peterson, Del Lamont, Walter Eschenbacher, and Melvin Peterson. The snow was so hard and deep at one place that it broke one of the sills, and another was bolted over the break.

Tuesday was spent in building the plow, while other men were out with teams and grader cutting through a drift opposite the Reid farm. Among the men who were out with teams on Wednesday were Oscar Olson, Leshe Olson, Oliver Wicklund, Chester Sutton, Al Lamont, Del Lamont, Rudolph Mustonen, Merwin Wendt, Axel Peterson, Walter Eschenbacher, Melvin Peterson, J. I. Dillon, Fred Sandgren, Wm. Hanson, and others.

This was the fifth or sixth time this winter for several of the men, they having opened the roads with smaller plows before, but it was the first time the big plow was used, with the string of seventeen teams of horses pulling it in tandem fashion.

Credit Not Johnson's

When Doctor Johnson's "Rambler" was first published, the sale was decidedly disappointing. In fact the only paper, curious as it may seem in the light of his reputation today, which might be said to have been popular, was No. 97—the only one Doctor Johnson did not write. This paper, says the Market for Exchange, was said to have been written by Samuel Richardson.

FARMERS AID IN ROAD WORK

Long Lake Township Rural Community Sets Example of Co-operative Road Work

KEEP MAIN ROADS OPEN

Men Turn Out With Teams, Graders, and Snowplows to Cut Drifts

Farmers of Long Lake township have this winter set an example of cooperative road work, which has kept the main roads of that town open for travel throughout the winter. After each snowfall the men of the neighborhood have turned out with teams, graders and snowplows to cut through the drifts, making possible a saving of time in getting to and from Brainerd.

Last Wednesday afternoon seventeen teams were used to open a 23-foot roadway from the town line one and one-half miles south of Oak street on the poor farm road, known as the old creamery corner, to Sutton's corner four miles south.

The plow used was built especially for the work out of 36-foot car sills, in V-shape, three sills high, with the rear 23 feet wide. The plow was built by Oscar Olson, Axel Peterson, Del Lamont, Walter Eschenbacher, and Melvin Peterson. The snow was so hard and deep at one place that it broke one of the sills, and another was bolted over the break.

Tuesday was spent in building the plow, while other men were out with teams and grader cutting through a drift opposite the Reid farm. Among the men who were out with teams on Wednesday were Oscar Olson, Leslie Olson, Oliver Wicklund, Chester Sutton, Al Lamont, Del Lamont, Rudolph Mustonen, Merwin Wendt, Axel Peterson, Walter Eschenbacher, Melvin Peterson, J. I. Dillon, Fred Sandgren, Wm. Hanson, and others.

This was the fifth or sixth time this winter for several of the men, they having opened the roads with smaller plows before, but it was the first time the big plow was used, with the string of seventeen teams of horses pulling it in tandem fashion.

SENATE ADOPTS CLOTURE RULE ON ANDREWS BILL

IATTER SEEKS REORGANIZA- TION OF PROHIBITION DE- PARTMENT

VOTE WAS 55 TO 27, ONE MORE THAN TWO-THIRDS REQUIRED

Washington, Feb. 28.—(UP)—By a margin of one vote, the senate today adopted a cloture rule on the Andrews bill for reorganization of the prohibition department.

The vote was 55 to 27, one more than the two-thirds required for invocation of the seldom-used drastic rule.

This action will probably assure passage of the prohibition measure and gives it precedence in the maelstrom of measures deadlocking the upper house in one of the most dramatic closing jams of recent years.

The cloture rule, limiting debate, will break the filibuster of wets who have held up adoption of the bill throughout the session.

Just previously, the senate refused to vote cloture on the public buildings bills which placed it in a precarious legislative position.

Cloture on prohibition sidetracks the Boulder Dam bill which would have been before the senate had the prohibition cloture been defeated. This was generally regarded as the end of the Boulder Dam bill for this session.

The prohibition bill now must stay before the senate until action is taken, and a filibuster from wets is in prospect.

WRESTLING TIPS BY NOTED COACH

Not the Rough and Tumble Sport People Think.

Boys! Do you want to know how to wrestle?

Here are some of the pointers given by George Pinneo, famous coach of the American Olympic wrestling team, as printed in the American Boy Magazine.

First Mr. Pinneo explains in the American Boy that "Wrestling isn't the rough-and-tumble sport that uninformed people think it is. It demands all the traits of a good athlete; the speed and the wind of a track man, the muscles of a football player, an acrobat's agility and sense of balance, and a swimmer's all-round development. It builds these qualities in the boys who take it up."

You can learn the fundamental wrestling holds by practicing with your chum, writes Mr. Pinneo.

"You won't need a gymnasium."

"Make your own mat, and put it in your basement. If you want one the regulation size take four 12-foot lengths of two-by-four lumber and fit them into a square. Round off the edges and pad the strips by tacking several thicknesses of cloth over them. Then find an old piece of canvas—from a worn-out tent or tarpaulin—and tack it tightly over the 12-foot frame. Two inches of sawdust under the canvas, and your mat is complete."

The next thing to do is to call your chum and start practicing. If possible, get pointers from an experienced wrestler. Begin by walking through the simpler holds. I say "walk through them" because only in this way can you learn what to do with your arms and legs at each stage of the game. Don't use all your muscle or speed—take it slowly and study your position."

"When you start a bout you are standing on the mat, facing your opponent. You're both thinking the same thing:

"I must put his shoulders to the mat and hold them there."

"But before you can do that you've got to close with him, and then to get behind him. It's important to get behind your man because it's possible to win your bout simply by staying behind him longer—at least one minute longer—than he stays behind you."

"Most wrestlers start things off by advancing to each other and taking what is called the referee's hold. Both men are bent forward, each man's head is resting against his opponent's left shoulder, his right hand grasping the other man's left arm above the elbow and his left hand on the back of the other man's neck. The feet are well apart and parallel. Learn the hold, because most go-behinds start from there. The referee's hold is a safe one for both wrestlers."

"From this point on the job is to get behind your opponent. One of the very simplest methods is by the arm-lift. Remember that in the referee's hold your right hand is grasping your opponent's left arm above the elbow. Merely by shifting your right hand under, thumb inside, and pushing his left arm up and to your left you'll find yourself behind him."

"Try it on your chum. Let him try it on you. Get it down pat, because it's the simplest go-behind known and one that even experienced wrestlers sometimes fail to guard against."

"But you ought to know a number of go-behinds, because if one doesn't work you'll want to try something else, quick. The football dive is one that collegiate wrestlers use more often than any other. Simply let go of the other man and dive for his legs, making sure to keep your shoulders high so that if you miss his legs he can't easily get around you. If he tries this block him with your outstretched arms. If you can grab his legs lift him up and tip him to the mat."

"If the football dive doesn't work try the pull-down. Clasp the opponent behind the neck with both hands, jerk him forward and throw him off balance. If he goes all the way to the mat you can slip behind him; if he goes only to his knees you can hold him there until you find an opening to go behind."

"There's one more go-behind you'll want to use—the trip, or grapevine. It's so old that most wrestlers have forgotten it, or haven't troubled to practice it. Take another good rest and then try it. Step forward with your left leg. At the same time put your left arm around his right. When you end up he'll be on the mat with you on top. In this hold, though, the quickest man wins. If you don't succeed in carrying him back, more than likely he'll carry you back. So don't try it in half-hearted fashion. Go through with it! And the same advice applies to all the other go-behinds."

"Now that you are on the mat behind your opponent—remember that 'behind' means at his side, and only slightly to his rear—the next job is to work him into a hold that will pin his shoulders to the mat. For the following explanations assume that you are on the right. Both of you are on hands and knees. Your left arm is around his waist—not far over—and your right hand is grasping his right upper arm. The upper arm is that part from the elbow to the shoulder. If he tries to get up pull his right arm in to his chest and jerk his body to the right with your left arm."

"First off, you'll probably want to try the half nelson. Watch your chance and slip your right hand under his right arm and get your hand on his neck. That's the half nelson, but it's not effective until it's furthered—that is, until you've shoved your arm farther along. To do this you will have to lift his right arm higher. Do not try to shove his head down, because the neck muscles are the strongest muscles of the body. Get his arm up. Then, when you've furthered your half nelson turn your opponent over on his back."

"There are a number of other holds, but if you learn those I have explained you will have enough to keep you busy in the basement during the winter months," Mr. Pinneo concludes in the American Boy.

"As you work you'll find your muscles developing, not only in size but in responsiveness and endurance. You'll lose your natural fear of physical contact. You'll be gaining confidence. You'll find yourself moving with nice balance and catlike speed."

"You'll be acquiring a steel-like grip. Best of all, no single part of your body will be developed to the exclusion of other parts. Wrestling gives you the right kind of healthy, all-around growth that you want. And it gives a weapon no man can take from you—a little body schooled in the art of self-defense."

Voices

The day is full of voices—meaningless, insistent. They drone upon the street, chatter at parties, hurl snatches of themselves at you from passing automobiles, rise up and down dramatically from open-air platforms, end with question marks at the office, trail after you on street cars. . . . Your ears, forever open, almost have to hear.

Yet in this same room with you are voices of utmost silence, whose every word concerns you. You control them more surely than you control telephone or radio. Open a page—they talk to you quietly. Close a page—they are through. They are the voices of the advertisements. They talk direct to you. Tell of better roofing for your home, more protective paint for its walls. Shoes your youngsters can't scuffle out easily. Salads, delicious drinks, to gratify you. Reinforced hosiery, cooler underwear, purer soaps. You believe in these voices, for they have to be sincere. Else they would not be in these pages—could not have the nation's belief. You buy the goods they proffer, for you know already what those goods will do. And wide belief has lowered their prices. They are economical—sure!

Loose products everywhere in stores are crying out, "Buy me!" But behind the voice of the advertised product is the voice of authority. The voice that tells the why, what, when, where and how of the goods you buy.

Heed these courteous voices often. Read the advertisements every day

SENATE ADOPTS CLOTURE RULE ON ANDREWS BILL

MAJORITY SEEKS REORGANIZATION OF PROHIBITION DEPARTMENT

VOTE WAS 55 TO 27, ONE MORE THAN TWO-THIRDS REQUIRED

Washington, Feb. 28.—(UP)—By a margin of one vote, the senate today adopted a cloture rule on the Andrews bill for reorganization of the prohibition department.

The vote was 55 to 27, one more than the two-thirds required for invocation of the seldom-used drastic rule.

This action will probably assure passage of the prohibition measure and gives it precedence in the maelstrom of measures deadlocking the upper house in one of the most dramatic closing jams of recent years.

The cloture rule, limiting debate, will break the filibuster of wets who have held up adoption of the bill throughout the session.

Just previously, the senate refused to vote cloture on the public buildings bill which placed it in a precarious legislative position.

Cloture on prohibition sidetracks the Boulder Dam bill which would have been before the senate had the prohibition cloture been defeated. This was generally regarded as the end of the Boulder Dam bill for this session.

The prohibition bill now must stay before the senate until action is taken, and a filibuster from wets is in prospect.

WRESTLING TIPS BY NOTED COACH

Not the Rough and Tumble Sport People Think.

Boys! Do you want to know how to wrestle?

Here are some of the pointers given by George Pinneo, famous coach of the American Olympic wrestling team, as printed in the American Boy Magazine.

First Mr. Pinneo explains in the American Boy that "Wrestling isn't the rough-and-tumble sport that uninformed people think it is. It demands all the traits of a good athlete: the speed and the wind of a track man, the muscles of a football player, an acrobat's agility and sense of balance, and a swimmer's all-round development. It builds these qualities in the boys who take it up."

You can learn the fundamental wrestling holds by practicing with your chum, writes Mr. Pinneo.

"You won't need a gymnasium. Make your own mat, and put it in your basement. If you want one the regulation size take four 12-foot lengths of two-by-four lumber and fit them into a square. Round off the edges and pad the strips by tacking several thicknesses of cloth over them. Then find an old piece of canvas—from a wornout tent or tarpaulin—and tack it tightly over the 12-foot frame. Two inches of sawdust under the canvas, and your mat is complete.

The next thing to do is to call your chum and start practicing. If possible, get pointers from an experienced wrestler. Begin by walking through the simpler holds. I say 'walk through them' because only in this way can you learn what to do with your arms and legs at each stage of the game. Don't use all your muscle or speed—take it slowly and study your position.

"When you start a bout you are standing on the mat, facing your opponent. You're both thinking the same thing:

"I must put his shoulders to the mat and hold them there."

"But before you can do that you've got to close with him, and then to get behind him. It's important to get behind your man because it's possible to win your bout simply by staying behind him longer—at least one minute longer—than he stays behind you."

"Most wrestlers start things off by advancing to each other and taking what is called the referee's hold. Both men are bent forward, each man's head is resting against his opponent's left shoulder, his right hand grasping the other man's left arm above the elbow and his left hand on the back of the other man's neck. The feet are well apart and parallel. Learn the hold, because most go-behinds start from there. The referee's hold is a safe one for both wrestlers."

"From this point on the job is to get behind your opponent. One of the very simplest methods is by the arm-lift. Remember that in the referee's hold your right hand is grasping your opponent's left arm above the elbow. Merely by shifting your right hand under, thumb inside, and pushing his left arm up and to your left you'll find yourself behind him."

"Try it on your chum. Let him try it on you. Get it down pat, because it's the simplest go-behind known and one that even experienced wrestlers sometimes fail to guard against."

"But you ought to know a number of go-behinds, because if one doesn't work you'll want to try something else, quick. The football dive is one that collegiate wrestlers use more often than any other. Simply let go of the other man and dive for his legs, making sure to keep your shoulders high so that if you miss his legs he can't easily get around you. If he tries this block him with your outstretched arms. If you can grab his legs lift him up and tip him to the mat.

"If the football dive doesn't work try the pull-down. Clasp the opponent behind the neck with both hands, jerk him forward and throw him off balance. If he goes all the way to the mat you can slip behind him; if he goes only to his knees you can hold him there until you find an opening to go behind."

"There's one more go-behind you'll want to use—the trip, or grapevine. It's so old that most wrestlers have forgotten it, or haven't troubled to practice it. Take another good rest and then try it. Step forward with your left leg. At the same time put your left arm around his right. When you end up he'll be on the mat with you on top. In this hold, though, the quickest man wins. If you don't succeed in carrying him back, more than likely he'll carry you back. So don't try it in half-hearted fashion. Go through with it! And the same advice applies to all the other go-behinds."

"Now that you are on the mat behind your opponent—remember that 'behind' means at his side, and only slightly to his rear—the next job is to work him into a hold that will pin his shoulders to the mat. For the following explanations assume that you are on the right. Both of you are on hands and knees. Your left arm is around his waist—not far over—and your right hand is grasping his right upper arm. The upper arm is that part from the elbow to the shoulder. If he tries to get up pull his right arm in to his chest and jerk his body to the right with your left arm."

"First off, you'll probably want to try the half nelson. Watch your chance and slip your right hand under his right arm and get your hand on his neck. That's the half nelson, but it's not effective until it's furthered—that is, until you've shoved your arm farther along. To do this you will have to lift his right arm higher. Do not try to shove his head down, because the neck muscles are the strongest muscles of the body. Get his arm up. Then, when you've furthered your half nelson turn your opponent over on his back."

"There are a number of other holds, but if you learn those I have explained you will have enough to keep you busy in the basement during the winter months," Mr. Pinneo concludes in the American Boy.

"As you work you'll find your muscles developing, not only in size but in responsiveness and endurance. You'll lose your natural fear of physical contact. You'll be gaining confidence. You'll find yourself moving with nice balance and catlike speed."

"You'll be acquiring a steel-like grip. Best of all, no single part of your body will be developed to the exclusion of other parts. Wrestling gives you the right kind of healthy, all-around growth that you want. And it gives a weapon no man can take from you—a lithe body schooled in the art of self-defense."
